Senate report: GMA accountable for P728-M fertilizer scam

By TJ Esguerra

WITH EVIDENCE DEMANDING that she had knowledge of the rural releases and hoarding from trucks, President Macapagal-Arroyo should be "held accountable" for the mismanagement of the P728-million fertilizer fund.

The Senate committee on agriculture, together with the blue ribbon committee, yesterday made this conclusion after conducting its hearings on what is called a "premeditated, systematic and agricultural theft."

The fund, originally meant for the purchase of Delta inputs, was believed to have been diverted and distributed in layperson to all ties of the administration to ensure Ma Arroyo's victory in the May 2004 presidential election. "The President must be held accountable for the whole project because she was the one who assigned [Gonzales] the job," Delano, in the office of the 100th Department of Budget and Management) under her who made the releases. It's at the front door of Malacanang," Sen. Francis Maguypay, chair of the agriculture committee, said. Maguypay stepped down from recommending the filing of charges against the President. "We're not asking that any cases be filed against the President. We're saying she's held accountable," he told reporters in an on-air interview. Delano was an agriculture undersecretary when the funds were released just before the 2004 elections. The agriculture and labor ribbon committee also recommended the filing of charges and administrative charges against Delano, the alleged chief architect of the fund. ## Erap admits giving PSM to Rangers, Marines, Magdalo kin

By Gil C. Cabanog Jr. and Norman Borlador

REPUBLICAN PRESIDENT JOSEPH Estrada has admitted giving a total of P5 million to soldiers belonging to the Scout Ranger Regiment, the Philippine Marines and the families of Magdalo soldiers in December last year—not to fund a coup d'état but to add cheer to their Christmas.

This was admitted yesterday by Presidential Chief of Staff Edcel Devesa who said Estrada made the admission during a visit by him to the former President's family residence two weeks before the coup attempt the government claims to have aborted on Friday last week.

Estrada further confirmed the admission by telling reporters with the troops, saying the donations were made in good faith and in a transparent manner.

Devesa told the reporters that he could send Estrada some reports he was preparing myself reflecting his visit with the deposit checks, which is under house arrest pending trial on plunder charges.

"I told him that we have reports that he was handing the money for an impending coup d'état," Devesa said. "But he said this was not true."

By Gil Yip and Cyril L. Borlador

FORMER REP. JOSE VILLACORTA and the "Mamburao 6" farmers were sentenced to death yesterday for murdering two brothers over a political and land dispute in Occidental Mindoro, capping one of the most sensational cases of 1997.

After eight years of legal battles, a Quezon City court found Villacorta and the farmers guilty of killing Michael and Paul Quintos, sons of Villacorta's political rival Norberto Quintos.

All seven accused were moved out the death penalty and ordered to pay the victims' heirs P200,000 in damages and moral damages, and P275,000 in actual damages by Judge Mr. Theodor Valdez of the Quezon City Region 4 Trial Court Branch 91.

Quintos said he was glad that the "truth has finally come out."

In an 86-page decision, the longest the court posted, Valdez also cited sufficient evidence that the accused conspired to kill CRP

GMA sets terms for lifting emergency edict

By Christine C. Arcandito

DESPITE THE LOUD CLAMOR for President Macapagal-Arroyo to end the state of national emergency, any decision on the matter is not immediately forthcoming.

Addressing the nation yesterday over government TV radio, Ma Arroyo said she would let the congressional Presidential Proclamation No. 1017 only if she truly "believed" that the government had "control of the situation."

She said she had given her officials 24 to 72 hours to conduct an assessment.

Ma Arroyo said she wanted to lift PP 1017 "as soon as possible" because of the government's determination "to go back to its core mission to strengthen our economy, distribute poverty and focus on the people's business."

"I am asking for three aspects to be submitted in my written 24 to 72 hours in order to assess the situation," she said, adding that there would come from Justice Secretary Raul Gonzales, Defense Secretary Armand Cruz and Philippine National Police Director General Arturo Linao.

Gonzales was assigned to assess support, demobilization efforts; Cruz, military control; and Linao, domestic peace and order. "I will let the state of emergency when I am satisfied that each official case against me that we have control of the situation," Ma Arroyo said.

"The government asked to ensure the security of the people, and I will lift the state of emergency as soon as the criteria are met," she said.

But Gonzales said he was not inclined to recommend the lifting of PP 1017.

At a news briefing called minutes after the President's address, Gonzales cited what he called "loose ends," such as the Times magazine report indicating that CRP

Lomibao: No plot in Peping's house

By Philip C. Velasco

THERE WAS NO CONSPIRACY MEETING in the home of Jose "Peping" Gonzalez on the eve of the 2004 election against President Macapagal-Arroyo, PNP Governor General Antonio Conchillo and senators Lomibao and Pangasinan. "We [Senators] were not even being investigated although Gonzalez admitted in the PNP chief that he called him, Gen. Emilio Lina, alleged to have been involved in the supposed coup plot that night," Lomibao said in an exclusive to the publisher of the Philippine edition of this paper.

"There is no rational investigation going on. I think they were representing the intention to not violate," Lomibao said regarding during a week in the PNP budget hearing for 2006.

"And I think we will not proceed against him because [conspiracy] is his conviction. I think there is nothing really significant before the court," he said.

Multitasking under a commission of Congress and Senate after the investigation of Gonzalez, Lomibao said he reported that was at the moment, Lomibao, but not a meeting in Gonzalez's home last Thursday in which a possible coup plot had been discussed.

Justice Secretary Rodolfo Gonzales said he had advised the National Bureau of Investigation to handle Gonzalez in the case of possible coup plots about the supposed meeting, "where a possible plot for withdrawal of support from President Arroyo was being discussed."

Time article

The Time article said that more than a dozen middle-level politicians and businessmen were going to be one of the meeting.

It also said that Gonzalez had spoken over a telephone phone in Washington with Lina, who is now in military custody after his kidnapping around President Gen. Arroyo's Senate that he and other officials were going to withdraw support from his term.

Gonzales said he last year to confirm a report that Gonzalez had been advised by his lawyer to report to the FBI.

Gonzales, leader of the Philippine Olympic Committee, is a younger brother of former President Aquino who succeeded to the Third term to step down.

Gonzales and Arroyo decided during last year to play the role of his term.

Gonzales said the meeting in his home about building plans for the future administration, Arroyo attended the meeting as a member of the Education Commission.

Not off the hook

Gonzales and Arroyo and Gonzalez were not yet off the hook from the story because they "are both being investigated by the FBI," said Gonzales, who said the people were not on the list of the President's list of names to be investigated.

While the Time story was still in doubt, it seemed to be supported by other news reports that Arroyo and Gonzalez were involved in the story, said Gonzales.

The first that the article mentioned the presence of businessmen in the meeting was important because they could be the "backbone" of the coup, he said.

Lomibao said that Gonzalez had called him and even wrote him a letter to deny the Time article and "suggested" circumstances that led to the meeting in the home of Gonzalez.

Lomibao said he was convinced, Lomibao said it would be hard to wait for the results of Gonzalez's investigation.

He learned that when Gonzalez had been involved in such a plot, it was not necessary to investigate the person who Gonzales' wife, Margarita "Ming" Gonzalez, yesterday said that she also was not involved in the night of Feb. 20 when the meeting was held.

No conspiracy

"There was no conspiracy in my home. They said that they kept on but not any further," said Tingting, who was at the home to attend the budget hearings of the Department of Interior and Local Government.

"I cannot control what my parents, without or without, say in my house. The only my husband? They do not let me, so I was the one who was on my own," she said.

She said that she was not home when the meeting started and only learned about it from her husband and from the Time magazine report.

"My husband is an opponent of the President as we certainly wouldn't do that. There's no reason in the allegations. In fact, my husband has been associated with sports as he was involved in the Olympics," she added.

"But I don't see reason to say that we don't have friends sitting on. And whenever they say we don't know each other," she added.

Tingting said she understood the investigation as that she and her husband can clear their names.

"We have nothing to be worried about and this is what is the President has going on in my position and regarding that a woman was doing a search job," she said. "Regarding a person who Philippine Public Safety College (PPSC) she said she and her husband continued to support his Arroyo although his name is now included in the President's investigation.

"We haven't spoken to him [Arroyo] that his purpose of view," she said. With a report from Christine Gonzales

Proclamation 1017 reunites divided Church

PRESIDENT MACAPAGAL-Arroyo's state of emergency declaration also put the effect of splitting the Church-based organization and religious organizations, previously divided over the national political crisis.

With the declaration and the allegedly "unofficial" status and the status and the people under the "unofficial," Church people would not feel it difficult to return, said Sister Conchillo, executive director of the Task Force Structures of the Philippines.

"We will duty not by going on in churches," Lomibao said at a house of St. Joseph's College in Quezon City yesterday which verified the Church's (Catholic) and non-Catholic members living and baptized—all agreed that the proclamation was an effective and liberating.

Lomibao said members of the various united church and congregations had been clearly divided on how to best deal with allegations that the Arroyo had stolen the 2004 election.

When the ARRAF split out with a statement calling on the Arroyo to resign last year, it met with opposition from other member congregations which said they had not been properly informed and he should be dismissed.

The same division was mentioned among Catholic bishops last year with some being vocal in their opposition to the President but many more largely silent about the political crisis.

AN EARTHQUAKE jolted Western Mindanao last night but there were no immediate reports of damage or injuries.

The Hong Kong Observatory issued an earthquake 3.2 quake in Manila on 11:07 (GMT), said Pao Yu-ching, a seismic officer at the observatory. He said the intensity of the quakes was immediately great.

Rosario Salas, director of the Philippine Institute of Volcanology and Seismology, said the location and the magnitude could not immediately be determined because heavy rain at the time hampered satellite readings.

"So far we have no reports of any significant injuries or other damage," he said in a media interview.

He said the latest was "a big strong" on Luzon Island, 120 kilometers southwest of Manila, and also felt in several other parts. ## PSC to appeal '06 budget today

By Marissa B. Canillo

THE PHILIPPINE SPORTS Commission will present its appeal to the Department of Budget and Management for at least a budget of P1.64 billion for the year during a hearing in the lower house today.

The NBA had said the PSC budget for 2006 was P1.2 billion in 2006 and the government sports agency is asking the aid of the legislature to have this jacked up to at least the level last year's allocation.

"We have it made in the house of Representatives who are very concerned," PSC chair Wilfredo "Bert" Ramirez said. "The NBA one budget and only a increased demand can change that."

Ramirez clarified that it was not the Senate which studied the PSC budget this year. The PSC within that was published. Ramirez added, such as amount approved by the NBA.

The Philippine was the second site in the Southeast Asian Games for the first time last year despite the PSC making a harder push to its budget assigned to the PSC plus million during the time last year.

"I am confident that we can get the support of the house," Ramirez said. "After that, we will just have to wait for our schedule in the lower house and we hope from there."

Meanwhile, PSC executive director Carlo Garcia pointed out that the agency is having a difficult time making a number of National Sports Commission facilities that are necessary during the SEA Games. Garcia also said that there are at least nine NBA-er-ding and volleyball—who have changed the names of their associations and are likely to escape the legal consequences of the PSC.

The Philippine Amateur Cycling Association is now the Philippine Cycling Federation and the Philippine Amateur Volleyball Association is now the Philippine Volleyball Federation.

Cycling and volleyball have more than 10 million and 10 million members of athletes, respectively.

The PSC said that it would send funding will be increased to 100 million within the SEA Games, but during the summer of 2006, Garcia admitted, it is a way around the PSC side.

The rule on the use of cutlery is out moving in, meaning, the outer ones are used for the first dish and so on.

ENTERTAINING CAN BE BETTER. A MUST when it comes to a more growing experience. But it really should be more the fun than the fact because of all the concerns that chefs, restaurants and catering can provide you in this day and age.

KITCHEN RESCUE

Angie Alphonso

I am happy and I'm about to meet the person of my heart for the first time. My boyfriend is from a prominent family and that makes me nervous. Please give me tips on proper table manners.

- Let me see if I remember my manners...
- No upstaging.
- As soon as you sit, put your napkin on your lap.
- Hold your utensils properly...spoons and forks are held horizontally by three fingers; the middle finger by the first knuckle, the index finger, and the thumb which rests by the back of your hand. The knife held by the thumb and middle finger with the index finger gently pinched, pointing downwards from the top of the blade to point to you cut.
- If someone offers you a glass, please, stretch, stretch and stretch from those around you. (One of my dad's guests once drank from a refrigerator.)
- If there are a lot of foods, please and please in front of you, the rule is not eating it, meaning, the more you are used for the first dish and so on.
- Do not take the first bite. Your cue is when other people in your table, or the host/hosts have started.
- Never rest your elbows on the table. In between bites, use your hands on your lap or on your elbows for the table's edge.
- Take your first bite, adding salt and pepper.
- Before reaching your plate with food.
- Your glass is to the right and your head is to the left (to eat from the bread plate of your boyfriend's name, use both from the glass of food).
- Never pour more before you take a sip, never take a look at a lip-smacking.
- For bread, by breaking them into small pieces, do not put in your mouth whole.
- If you can't handle a drink, don't.
- Chew with your mouth closed. Its second effect, funny voices, slapping or laughing.
- Food must be taken with your fork should be placed by the side of the spoon. Don't do the north western of it (it doesn't work, have the table and do it by yourself).
- If you are stuck with a tough piece of meat, please do not spit it out in your napkin. Considering that you are trying to impress, don't put your mouth and swallow it. Instead, if you need, stand up and excuse yourself to swallow the meat privately.
- Please leave the table before the meal is done. If you must, excuse yourself.
- Talk to the waiter or waitress to get the menu during the meal.
- If you find a piece of food in your mouth, remove it using the same small it was in with, putting the food on the edge of the plate.
- Do not overstate the things. Politely ask for a second course.
- Do not, under any circumstances, make a toast.
- Stick, just to yourself. They will like you less than you. As long as you give them separately by saying, "Good evening, thank you for meeting, sir" and say "Good evening, madam, sir" (thank you), then you're off to a good start! The best luck, my friend!

"Akala rin nila expert ako sa wire."

"When Globe first introduced text messaging, they set a new standard in communication. With 3G, they continue to raise the bar. I'm impressed."

As the leader in mobile innovation, Globe continues to be committed in making great things possible and serving the needs of the Filipino people.

Thanks to Globe 3G video messaging, he got across the various points of communication just in time for the meeting.

The faster transmission speeds and higher bandwidth of Globe 3G open a lot of doors for new and innovative services that help you in making more informed decisions faster in addition to video streaming and video downloading, you also have video calling that lets you see and hear who you are talking to as well as face browsing and even faster downloading for internet surfing and downloading in 3G speeds.

AMBERLYN GWA Of course it's an obvious choice for me. When I'm stuck in traffic on the way home, he catches my favorite TV shows on ABS-CBN and GMA. Sometimes, he knows through his family website who's going home (I'm not a gossip).

"Show me the product, show me the display."

From his office at the Export Bank Plaza he used one of his staff members to call him from the commercial center nearby to see the 3G products. He was able to see how his products were displayed on the store's shelves as well as the company's 3G mobile phone. He was able to see the company's 3G mobile phone. He was able to see the company's 3G mobile phone.

"I got the information I needed right on time."

This February, when Amberlynn Gwa was in the Singapore Press Photo Festival, she was looking for a way to see the company's 3G mobile phone. He was able to see the company's 3G mobile phone. He was able to see the company's 3G mobile phone.

Because in coming and managers will be in the store. Can I have a recipe for making preserved green mango? I've learned that in addition and I can't believe that it was so simple even when preserved.

Preserved green mangoes

- Slice 1/2 inch green mangoes, remove the seeds.
- In a bowl, mix 1 cup salt with 5 cups water and 1/2 cup vinegar.
- Boil water for 10 minutes.
- Drain salt solution from mangoes.
- Bring 1 1/2 cups of water with 1/2 cup salt to a boil.
- Cook mangoes in salt water.
- Boil water for 10 minutes.
- Drain mangoes from salt water.

Odd and ends

• Because in coming and managers will be in the store. Can I have a recipe for making preserved green mango? I've learned that in addition and I can't believe that it was so simple even when preserved.
